RACING GOSSIP.

Whatever the corner of this—and thatism about the Gillette decision on the famous and so called "Roby racing case" comes up, one thing is certain. Mr. Gillette is a wise and astute lawyer. His ruling on last Friday's injunction case was strictly in line. Superficially silly as the McCabe decision was, it set up a legal goal. A Supreme Court decision usually is one. There are many bad goals of such high class. Racing has always suffered from legal superficiality. Few courts consider that some 50,000 people earn their daily bread about thoroughbred race tracks and that a million or more good citizens are deeply interested in the daily doings of the tools of such tracks. The same legal wisdom is too narrow for the consideration of an interest, the financial scope of which, is ten millions of dollars per annum. It does not know either, of the large class of turfmen who race their horses as an honest lawyer serves his clients and a groceryman of repute supplies his customers, without chancetaking and simply as an industry of these days. This is the turf's fault. It should make a case broad enough and get lawyers deep enough to parade all the facts. Then a racing case might have a chance in any court.

Personally I believe that the Indiana race track folks could—with the proper legal advocates and tune—have won a case in the courts had they made this kind of a declaration in a simple and straightforward way: "We are in a combine. The Sellers law doesn't prohibit one. We are living strictly within its lines. The law may be bad. That's Indiana's business. Such as it is we are obeying. What are you going to do about it?" There has been altogether too much pettifoggery and shabby technicality about the advocacy in racing cases. The tracks and their lawyers should take higher ground, go broadly against the lottery and gambling angles with which American legal records abound and push a test case of respectability—by reason of its advocates—to the United States Supreme Court. Such advocates should be men like Benjamin F. Harrison or Judge Hoadley—men who would discuss an American racing case to the verge of legal authority in Great Britain, Australia, France, Germany, Italy and Austria. A parade of foreign rulings on racing would of itself earn the respect of an American jurist of the proper calibre. But, as the sport goes, there's too much slapdashery in and around it to secure respect. It will get better as it gets more elderly. A decade will see the turf in its own place—a high and noble one.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Ed Corrigan was in Chicago Sunday on his way to Detroit.

George Morgan will probably be the presiding judge at the Newport meeting.

Armenia, b. f. 2, by Rossington—Mary Owsley in J. A. McLaughlin's stable, is dead.

Pat Dunne goes to Detroit and from there East, probably before the Detroit meeting ends.

The judges at Detroit will be L. P. Tarleton and James H. Rees. Mr. Caldwell will start the horses.

J. K., St. Paul. Lester Reiff is the boy riding in Chicago for Duke & Wishard. He is a Wicheta, Kas., boy.

W. J. Arkell's partner in the Eastern racing firm of Trowbridge & Co., is Sam Trowbridge, of Wellington, Kas., a good horseman.

By a recent decision Judge Colt has broken up the business of commission bets in Rhode Island. His decision ends a keenly fought test case.

Phil Chinn has purchased Rondo from T. P. Hayes and will take the colt east in the fall with Ingomar, Lissak, Jack of Spades and several others.

Tom Hurns has bought Prince of India and another two-year-old from C. H. Smith. Henry McDaniels is no longer training the Smith horses.

Will Wallace got Refugee from the Blenton folks for a matter of $1,500 and Darien from W. J. Rogers for about the same price. Both are bargains.

A few days ago at St. Louis, Tom Ryan beat the bizarre, W. L. McDonald, with an umbrella. He was fined $100 for his act. The trouble was over First Deal's last race.

The Metropolitan Turf Club is said to be considering a scheme to abolish credit betting altogether, and to compel every one to bet cash. Some of the prominent Metropolitan layers of odds, however, object, as they claim that to do away with credit, betting would be an inconvenience to many of their patrons.

SPECIAL SERVICE TO MILWAUKEE.

To-day (Tuesday) and until further notice The Chicago & Northwestern will run a special train to Milwaukee, leaving Wells street depot at 11 o'clock a. m., and arriving within State Park two hours later. The train will leave the grounds directly after the last race each day and will land passengers back in Chicago at or about 8 o'clock p. m. Parlor and dining cars will be attached going and coming. The fare for the round trip including admission to the grounds will be three dollars. The State Park Jockey Club makes a liberal book on Brighton Beach, St. Louis, Detroit and Newport races.

The track is beautifully situated, its stabling good and the water and air perfect. Western horsemen choose Milwaukee as Eastern ones choose Saratoga, to rejuvenate jaded horseflesh. The Milwaukee offerings are liberal enough to attract the best stables. The racing too has been first class and will be even better from date. Milwaukee is the natural racing place for Chicagoans.

ST. LOUIS RACING FORM.

St. Louis people who want DAILY RACING FORM can get it early at the Jett Co., 806 Olive street. The paper will be on sale there from and after Tuesday by 9 a. m.
